

Wheeling into New Time Zones: Lessons from Studying Abroad in Japan by Powerchair

Tre Madden, Laura Ridler, Anne Frey, and Laurie Laird

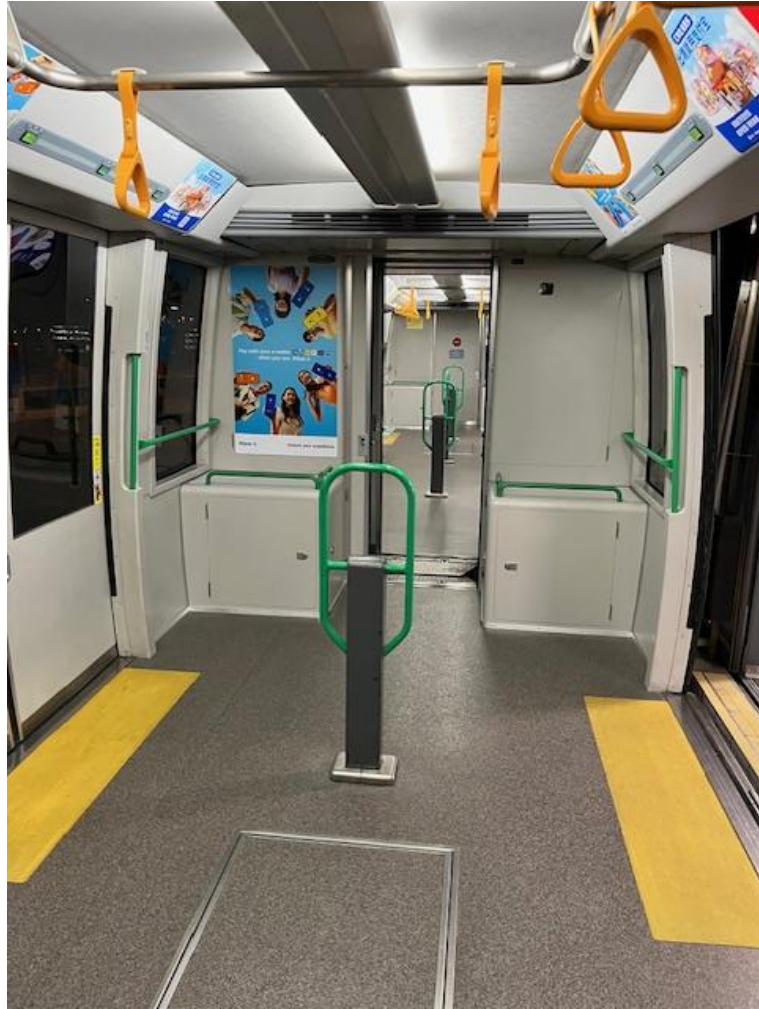

Welcome and Agenda

- How it all Began
- Preparation, preparation, preparation!
- On Program
- Accessibility Looks Different
- Navigating the Unexpected
- NCDE Resources
- Questions

The Adventure Begins!

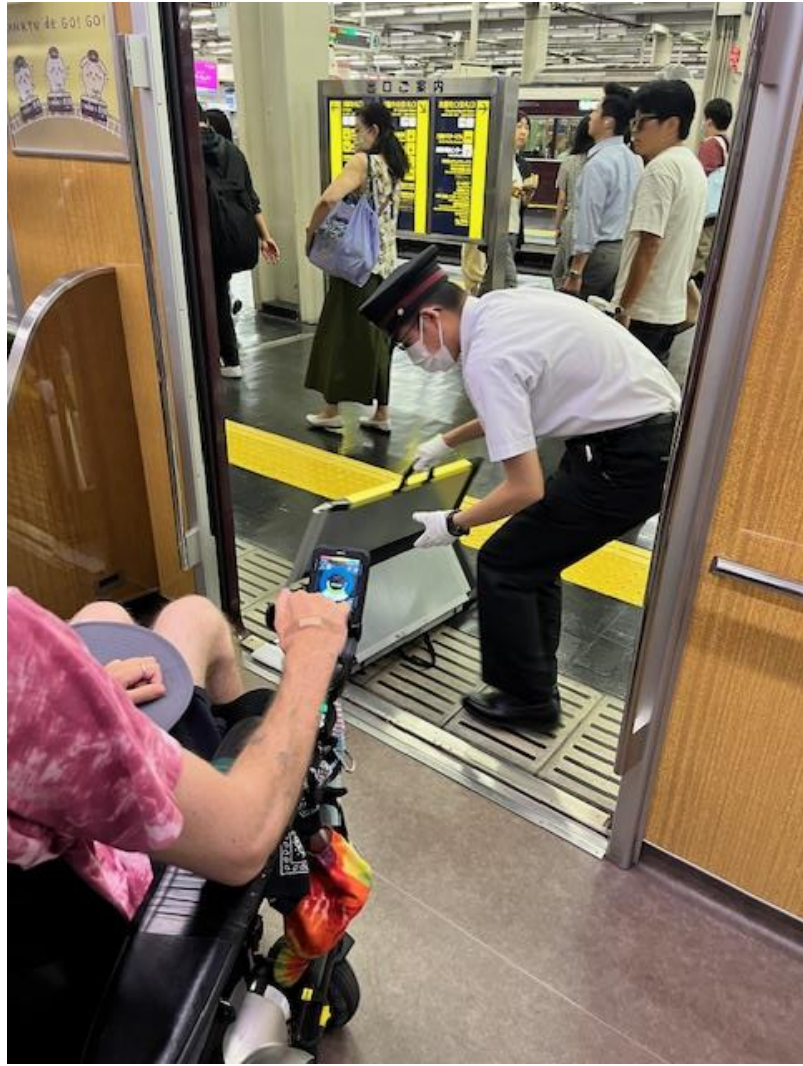

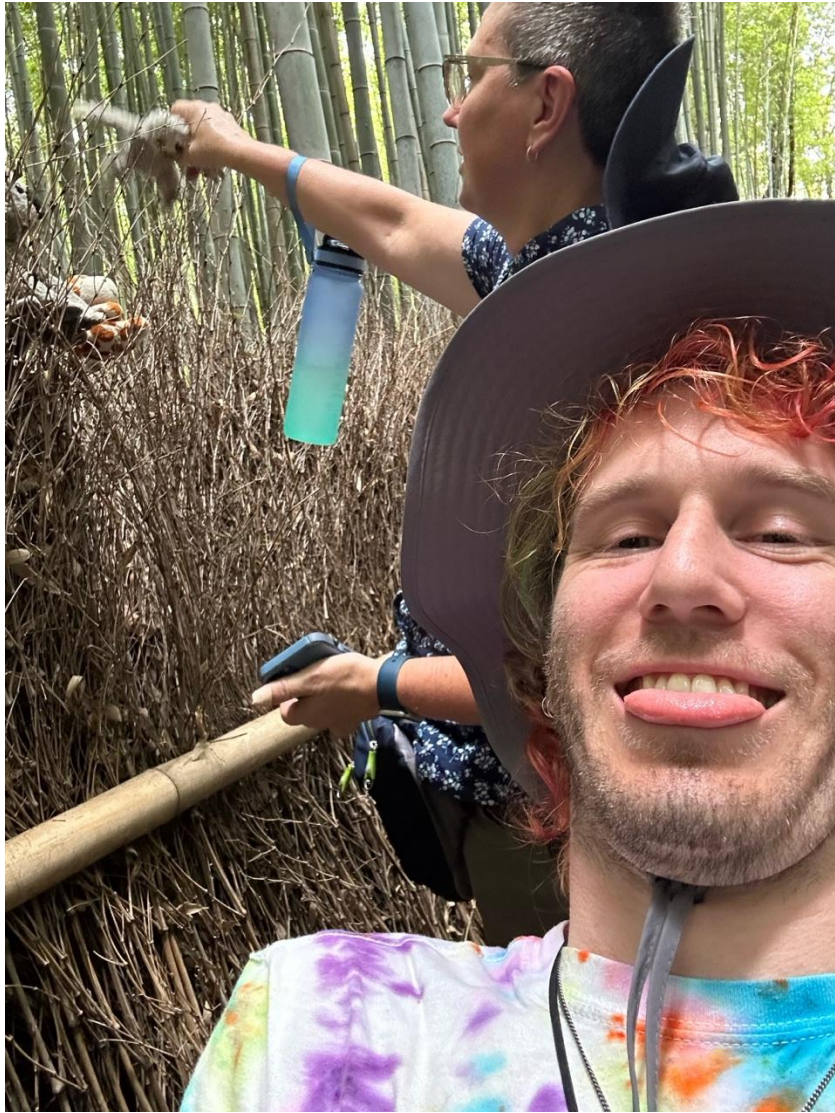

Questions?

National Clearinghouse on Disability and Exchange

- ▶ An ongoing project to increase the participation of people with disabilities in international exchange (study, teach, research, volunteer, intern abroad)
- ▶ Sponsored by the U.S. Department of State Bureau of Educational & Cultural Affairs (ECA) and administered by Mobility International USA (MIUSA)
- ▶ Supports people with disabilities and their families, organizations or institutions that send or receive international exchange participants, disability services professionals
- ▶ Free resources and services on disability inclusion in international exchange

U.S. People with Disabilities Education Abroad Pathway Trailhead

Welcome to the U.S. People with Disabilities Education Abroad Pathway! If you are an individual with a disability based in the United States and looking to have the education abroad experience of a lifetime, you are in the right spot.

U.S. Individuals with Disabilities Education Abroad Pathway Disability-Specific Resources Module

Much of the information that we have provided to you so far is broadly applicable to almost everyone's experience regardless of disability. This pathway really would not be complete without information that covers specific disability experiences. Rather than arranging this section in a chronology, we have put it together as a single webpage with potential resources of interest divided up under different sections based on disability. Feel free to browse the different resources that apply to your situation.

Travelers with Physical Disabilities

Thank you!

Contact us:

Tre Madden: tregmadden@gmail.com

Anne Frey: anne.frey@pcc.edu

Laura Ridler: laura@aim-4-access.com

Laurie Laird: clearinghouse@miusa.org